

February 2019

Paint Out

February is Bald Eagle Month in Utah

February is the best time of the year to see one of the country's most iconic birds. Utah's Division of Wildlife Resources holds viewing events each year.

This year, we're going to the northernmost event to see if we can capture any of our Nation's symbol on paper. Bring your cameras with zoom or telephoto lenses too if desired.

Cache Valley Chapter members are encouraged to join us!

When:

Saturday, February 9, 2019

10:00 AM to 12:00 PM

Where:

Salt Creek Waterfowl Management Area (Compton's Knoll), located about 10 miles northwest of Corinne

Viewing on Feb. 9 takes place from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

To reach the Salt Creek WMA, exit Interstate 15 at Exit 365, and travel west on state Route 83 through Corinne. Stay on SR-83 until you get to 6800 West (Iowa String). Turn right on 6800 West, and travel north to 6800 North. Once you reach 6800 North, the WMA's Compton's Knoll Watchable Wildlife site will be on your left side.

Carpooling:

Meet at Sons of Utah Pioneers at or before 8:30 AM

Lunch:

Ricardo's Restaurant 1:00 PM

131 S Main St, Brigham City, UT 84302

This should be a thrilling event, rain or shine!
